The Penn Club invites you to make your occasion unforgettable.

"The Penn Club has served as a quality and convenient venue for business meetings, luncheons, dinners and celebrations.

While the setting is spectacular, the consistent five-star service by the friendly staff sets the Club in a league of its own."

- Gerald Knorr, W'82, WG'86

"We are so happy that we chose to have our wedding reception at The Penn Club. We live in Seattle, and the Club made planning a long-distance wedding so much easier. They were very accessible, attentive to detail, and made great recommendations concerning local vendors. The Club is in a great location, and our out of town guests could stay on site without the impersonal feel of a big hotel. It was the night of our lives and everyone had a wonderful time."

- Laura Gladstone-Larkins, C'95

For your personal celebration or professional event, The Penn Club is more than exceptional. It's perfect.

There are occasions in life which call for true elegance. When nothing short of exquisite will do. Perhaps a personal milestone or family celebration is in your future: a wedding, anniversary, graduation or special birthday. Maybe you're looking ahead to a professional banquet or conference, and you need to be certain that every detail turns out just right. You know that the best choice for a venue will be one with beauty, sophistication and, of course, exceptional cuisine.

That choice is right before your eyes: The Penn Club. It has, quite simply, everything to offer. With a Platinum Club rating that puts it among the top 3 percent of private clubs nationally, The Penn Club provides a level of excellence you can trust. Our menus excite even the most sophisticated palates, with delectable selections such as parmesan crusted halibut filet with tomato-basil vinaigrette, and seared filet mignon with braised short rib and truffle croquette. Our elegant décor, modern amenities and highly attentive staff create a wonderful experience from beginning to end, one that eliminates the stress associated with planning a function and puts you at ease throughout the process.

Consider what many Club members and others already know: that here is the perfect place to lend elegance and grace to your next meeting, banquet or special occasion.

Our rooms and menus cater to your individual tastes.

The Presidents and Provosts Rooms ("Main Dining Room") 2nd Floor. These two, double-story dining rooms are popular for private functions of up to 250 people, offering excellent cuisine in a grand setting. A sweeping marble staircase leads up to the musicians gallery, a balcony with ornamental grillage. Austrian crystal complements the Wedgwood china, cast for the Club from a pattern created for Penn in 1929.

Tarnopol Room. 10th Floor

Tarnopol Room 10th Floor. Be a brilliant host! This double-story banquet room with giant arched window provides a magnificent setting for a rehearsal dinner, anniversary or other social event. Nineteenth-century, antique chandeliers reflect the room's Adams-style, sunny elegance. The adjacent entrance foyer is ideal for cocktails or as a reception area.

Chestnut Room 4th Floor. This impressive boardroom features Georgian conference table, coffered ceilings with acoustical fabric covering, and leather seats for up to 22 people.

Conference Room, 11th Floor

"The clubhouse is always my choice for meeting with Penn students, business contacts and friends. The meeting rooms are impressive and the atmosphere is warm and inviting. I highly recommend that all alumni be involved in the vibrant Club community."

- Gary Vura, W'83

Walnut Room 4th Floor. For your next small business meeting: this boardroom with leather seating for 8 reflects the Penn Club's combination of comfort and elegance.

Spruce Room 3rd Floor. This suite of three meeting rooms (A, B, and C) customizes to the spatial needs of your event.

Conference Room 11th Floor. Located in the Business Center, this conference room seats five and is just right for small group meetings.

Conference rooms offer state-of-the-art audio-visual and telecommunications equipment. Customized menus are available for private dining in the Club's five conference rooms and adjoining foyers.

Choose your room arrangement from five different styles: Theater, Conference, Classroom, Banquet or Reception. The number of guests each room can accommodate depends on the style you select, as shown here.
